To insist the students to respect the culture of their own. 3. THE CONTEXT: N.M.S.Sermathai vasan college for women consists of staff and the students from the various religious background like Hindus, Christian, Muslims. It makes them be comfortable in all seasons especially in summer. It is the platform for them to know the tradition easily. This practices kindle the students to give due respect to all the weavers. 4. THE PRACTICE: No other fabric comes close to cotton clothing. Cotton fabric is the most preferred form of clothing. This is primarily due to its rich texture, soft feel and insulating qualities. It is relatively easy to manufacture and additionally, has a lot of uses in industries other that the fabric industry. Principal, the teaching and non teaching faculties and the students are all wearing cotton saris monthly once. Evidence of success: For the students: It is the opportunity for the students to wear cotton sari. All the students look more gorgeous and neat too. When they wear it, they feel more comfortable. The students are inwardly motivated to give hands for the weavers in the society. For the Staff: Cotton sarees are suitable for office wear, everyday wear as well as party wear. FOR THE COLLEGE: Healthy atmosphere will be aroused among the faculties and the students. College motto is emphasized in a different way. College can provide good citizens to the society. Sharing of thoughts from the students to their neighbours and friends help the society to reform in actions. For the Society: The production of handloom sarees is important for economic development in rural India.[1]Completion of a single saree takes two to three days of work. Several regions have their own traditions of handloom sarees. The handloom sector plays a vital role in the countrys economy and as a result evens the government is implementing several measures to optimize all the resources available.
